

KBR is a leading global engineering, construction and services company supporting the energy, hydrocarbon, government services and civil infrastructure sectors. The company is a leader in many of the growing end-markets it serves, particularly gas monetization, having designed and constructed, alone or with joint venture partners, close to half of the world's operating liquefied natural gas (LNG) production capacity over the past 33 years. KBR was the first contractor to bring LNG to Australia, Egypt, Malaysia and Nigeria. The company's record on safety, sustainability and training local workforces remains one of the highest in the industry. KBR has a solid reputation for delivering reliable, cost-effective, and technically superior facilities. KBR delivers complex logistics on the most challenging projects in energy, hydrocarbon, government services and civil infrastructure sectors.
